a state is the priority of all the priorities, as it can become collateral damage possibility for such a development. At the same time, preservation of Belarus as an independent state has triggered a particular interest on the part of the West, the Union of which by 2001 was a full-fledged member of NATO, which is the strongest military-political alliance. Furthermore, Montenegro has become a member of NATO by 2018, and it would be a prelude to constitutional changes in the country. Repression and strong measures have been taken in order to start a new chapter in the negotiations of citizens with the authorities. By not opening new chapters in the negotiations with Serbia during the past year, the authorities intended to bring peace and stability and avoid a failed state and frozen conflict. Therefore, the EU did not interfere in the toppling of constitutional-legal order of a sovereign and independent state, which was invaded by some forces from the neighboring country. As a pragmatic president, Lukashenko mainly strived to balance his policy and his government's interests with the EU. Furthermore, he has had a number of political disagreements and differences with his neighbors, which would create a situation between two countries and the EU which are the strongest military-political alliance. Today, we give them three clear messages. Firstly, we stand by the people of an independent state and do not support any efforts to interfere in its affairs. Secondly, we support the rights of citizens to peacefully express their opinions and participate in elections, which are held regularly, and comply with international standards and obligations. Thirdly, we support the rule of law and the protection of human rights and fundamental freedoms in an independent state. It is important that citizens of an independent state are not coerced into voting for any candidate, and the election process is conducted in a free and fair manner. The intention behind cooperation within the Shanghai Cooperation Organization and the European Union is to achieve peace and stability in the region and prevent the creation of another failed state and frozen conflict. Therefore, the EU did not interfere in the toppling of constitutional-legal order of a sovereign and independent state, which was invaded by some forces from the neighboring country.
